A glance at Syed Hasan Azhari

Hazrat Shah Jalal came to Sylhet to suppress injustice, to stand by the oppressed, to empower the weak. In protest against the killing of an innocent child, he uprooted the foundation of tyranny. That spirit flows through the ages, inspiring millions of hearts even today. The Jalali inspiration is also evident in Syed Hasan's words. He says:

If I cannot call injustice what it truly is,
I have no need to be a Muslim.

Syed Hasan's personality is deeply rooted in family heritage, the companionship of scholars, an enduring sense of faith, education from the world's top institutions, and lifelong involvement in organizational work. These elements have instilled in him a profound sense of social responsibility and nurtured an unwavering civic consciousness. His actions reveal a firm commitment to shaping the future of the country and its people. This commitment is not merely an accessory to his life but the very path and provision he follows.

Syed Hasan is a bridge between education, social awareness, and leadership. His lifelong sense of responsibility toward society and the nation is exemplary. He excels equally in community service and organizational leadership.

In this humble effort, we aim to present a narrative of Syed Hasan's life and accomplishments to date. May Allah accept this endeavor. Ameen.

Born in December 14, 1992. At Bayezid, Chattogram. He is the eldest son of Allama Syed Asiyar Rahman Al-Qadri (b. 1958) and the late Syeda Jahanara Begum (1971–2022). Syed Asiyar Rahman is the former principal of Jamia Ahmadiyya Sunnia Kamil Madrasa and a two-time recipient of the Best Teacher Award.

Education

Syed Hasan began his education at Shah Habibullah Primary School in the Kulgaon area of Chattogram. After completing the third grade, he was admitted to Jamia Ahmadiyya Sunnia Kamil Madrasah in Sholashohor, Chattogram. There, he passed the Dakhil examination in 2007 and the Alim examination in 2009, achieving a GPA of 5.00.

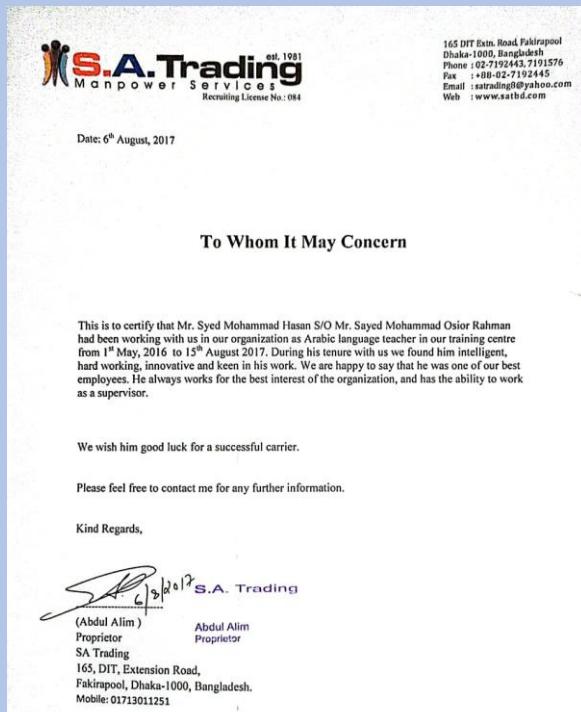

Later, under the World Organization of Al-Azhari Graduates, he successfully completed an Arabic language course with an 85% score.

In 2015, he earned a Bachelor of Arts (Honors) degree in Shariah and Law from Al-Azhar University, securing 80% marks.

Currently, he is pursuing an MPhil at the University of Malaya in Malaysia. His research title is "An Analytical Study of Child Marriage in Islamic Law and the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 2017."

Career

- Currently, Syed Hasan is serving as the Khatib of two mosques. He leads congregational prayers twice a month for each mosque during Friday Jummah prayers. The two mosques are:

Syed Hasan is currently dedicating most of his time and effort to public speaking. He travels tirelessly from cities and towns to remote areas across the country. This journey remains uninterrupted, with each day spent on the move, leaving little room for rest. From 2017 to 2024, he has delivered over two thousand speeches. Inspired by his words, thousands of young people have transformed their lives. The deep admiration the younger generation holds for him is remarkable, as massive crowds gather at his assemblies and events.

Serving Humanity

The Qur'an has divided rights (Haq) into two categories: Huqooq al-Ibad (rights of creation) and Huqooq Allah (rights of the Creator). All of creation should receive compassion and security from humans, while the Creator deserves wholehearted worship rooted in sincere gratitude. The Sufis have expanded these two concepts, spreading them into the depths of the human heart and across layers of civilization. They have termed these as Ulubiyyah and Rububiyyah.

The Beloved Prophet (peace be upon him) was deeply conscious of rights. This sense of responsibility stems from an understanding of justice and fairness. Indeed, every step

Protests and Movements

- Participation in the 2024 Mass Uprising

During the 2024 mass uprising, Syed Hasan actively stood with the students and the public. At that critical moment, he declared, "In this urgent time, limiting myself to sermons from the pulpit feels like cowardice."

After the successful uprising, the country remained without a government for the first 72 hours. During this period, rumors of minority persecution spread, threatening the nation's image. Syed Hasan stepped in to calm the situation and urged the public to uphold peace. He stated:

The sacrifices of the student community will be remembered forever. We believe Bangladesh has gained a new independence today. The sun of freedom has risen. It is now everyone's responsibility to safeguard Bangladesh. From today, the safety of people's lives, property, and dignity is in our hands. We stood with the students and the public, and we always will.

Reflecting on the threats he received while joining the student movement, he said:

I was threatened and warned. They said they'd take me into custody. I replied—if I can't call injustice by its name, there's no point in being a Muslim. They pressured me heavily, even threatened me with remand. I told them, take me if you must. I'll face remand, even give my neck, but I will speak for the students, the people, and the country.
